

This document was compiled within the frame of The Critical Theory in the Global South project to support the development of new open access curricula reflecting the global reach of critical theory. The project was designed with the support of Northwestern University and received funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation as part of the International Consortium of Critical Theory Programs (ICCTP) initiative.

INDIAN OCEAN EPISTEMOLOGIES PROJECTS, INSTITUTES, & INITIATIVES

Compiled by:
Serah Kasembeli

Ohio University Press Indian Ocean Study Series

Offering an interdisciplinary and comparative approach to Indian Ocean Studies, this series focuses on topics such as human migration, cultural and religious diversity, trade and commerce, imperialism and colonialism, and globalization as they relate to the Indian Ocean and beyond. Link

Tufts University School of Arts and Sciences Centre for South Asia and Indian Ocean Studies

The Center was established in 1989, and engages scholarship on the South Asian subcontinent and the Indian Ocean Rim. The program includes faculty research, doctoral training, and undergraduate instruction. Link

Journal of Indian Ocean World Studies (JIOWS)

The Journal of Indian Ocean World Studies publishes original peer reviewed articles by established and emerging scholars in the social sciences and related disciplines that contribute to an understanding of the Indian Ocean World and its constituent parts, from early times to the present day. The Journal defines the Indian Ocean World as a macro-region running from Africa to East Asia, comprising both maritime and terrestrial zones. Its first Issue was published in 2017. Link

Indian Ocean World Centre (2004)

The Indian Ocean World Centre (IOWC) at McGill University is a research initiative and resource base established to promote the study of the history, economy and cultures of the lands and peoples of the Indian Ocean World, from China to Southeast and South Asia, the Middle East and Africa. Link

UC Davis Humanities Institute on "Reimagining Indian Ocean Worlds"

UC Davis Humanities Institute hosts the "Reimagining Indian Ocean Worlds" Mellon Research projects of graduate students associated with this cluster engage with a wide number of cities, oceanic ecologies, warscapes, asylums, waste markets, musicscapes, and other sites in this region. Link

This document was compiled within the frame of The Critical Theory in the Global South project to support the development of new open access curricula reflecting the global reach of critical theory. The project was designed with the support of Northwestern University and received funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation as part of the International Consortium of Critical Theory Programs (ICCTP) initiative.

US Naval War College Rhode Island Indian Ocean Studies Group

The Indian Ocean Studies Group focuses on maritime security and security-related issues in the Indian Ocean, both at sea and in the Indian Ocean's surrounding nations. Link

Palgrave series in Indian Ocean World Series

This is the first scholarly series devoted to the study of the Indian Ocean world from early times to the present day. Link

International Institute for Asian Studies: Indian Ocean Studies- The Leiden Centre for Indian Ocean Studies

The center brings together people and methods to study the oceanic world through individual and institutional collaborations. Link

The Indian Ocean Rim Academic Group (IORAG)

The Indian Ocean Rim Academic Group is an initiative of the Indian Ocean Rim Association, an inter-governmental organization established in 1997. The IORAG maintains two journals: Journal of the Indian Ocean Region and Journal of the Indian Ocean Rim Studies. Link

